THE MAYOR'S FIGURES SHOW COST WAS $62.50

Only a Slight Difference in the Actual Figures.

AFTER SHOWING COST WAS $62.50 HE TELLS HOW TO DO IT FOR $17.50!

The Mayor Adds to the Length of Time the Plant Has Run, and to Average of Lights Used.

The mayor has made public his figures on the cost of the light plant, and they are given below.

The figures made by the committee from the aldermanic board are also given and the differences are easily seen.

The principal differences are in the value of the plant, the number of lights and the interest charges. The mayor figured the interest charges at 4 per cent., which is all right, as the city can get money at that rate, and he figures the first cost of the plant at $23,969.50, while the committee figured it at $25,000.

If the committee had figured the interest charges at 4 per cent., the cost according to its figures would have been about $82.50. The greatest difference, however, is in the ave rage number of lights, which cuts quite a figure in the estimates, and it is up to the mayor and the committee to show which is correct.

"THE PLAYER MAID" AT HOME.

This play was pronounced by Baltimore critics and patrons the brightest and most wholesome play of the season. It will be at The Kentucky Wednesday matinee and night. Upon the presentation of "The Player Maid" at the Academy of Music, Balimore, recently, the home of its auhor, Miss Louise Malloy, of the Baltimore American, the enthusiasm of the audience for both the play and its stellar exponent, Miss Florence

Davis, was unbounded. One of the criticisms is as follows: "The play is a literary gem and a dramatic masterpiece. One's attention is arrested at once upon the rise of the curtain by the ever-interesting comedy behind the scenes of the thea. tre, and as the play proceeds there is not a lagging moment. Each scene is full of action, of novel incident, of sparkling and pungent wit, and there is an artistic completeness in the arrangement, the climax occurring just where the emotions of the audience logically demand it, and in so soul-satisfying a manner that contentment holds the people quiet for a brief moment, then the heart leaps in recognition of the bright, wholesome, intellectual and altogether excellent play, and ap-

The matter of phonetic spelling in by a rule of the association." the schools throughout the country is attracting the attention of educaand this was one of the ques tions brought up at a departmental meeting in Louisville during the meeting last week of the superintendents and college mens' division of the National Educational associa-

Several superintendents in prominent Kentucky towns have expressed themselves adverse to the methods suggested by the departmental meeting and Supt. C. M. Lieb although he did not attend this particular meeting while in Louisville, has about the same idea, as seems general among educators.

"The matter of phonetic spelling is one that is attracting attention every where in the country," he stated, "but I do not think it will ever reach a point where the reform will really be started in the way it haz been suggested. The departmental held separate from the national educational association meeting. It was a side issue and I was not in at tendance. I have read and investigated the matter and find that about 11 or 12 words is the limit set for each year. It is the idea of the educators to adopt the phonetic spelling reform gradually, but the question to my mind is how much reform will be accomplished at that We can easily see that from 10 to 12 words are added yearly to our language and if we take but this number of words already embodied in our language, we will be virtually standing still. There will be no pro-

"Take on the other hand, however, the matter of adopting the phonetic alphabet. If this be done we have 42 sounds and every word will be spelled as it sounds. This would make spelling and pronunciation easy. It will, you might say, preclude mispelling, and the only thing we might lose by it would be the history of our language, for as we have words from every language, if the phonetic alphabet were adopted we should have a hard time keeping the history of our language. This is the only objection that could be raised to the adoption of this kind of spelling, but to make it a success the entire phonetic alphabet would have to be adopted and not from 10 to 12 words annually."

Supt. Lieb stated that he did not

Daily Thought.

"Every cry of need is God's open door to some garden of Paradise."

THE TRICK DIDN'T WORK. The ruse failed. The gang's bluff didn't work worth a cent. The council didn't wilt. And it is well.

There was no occasion for any petition, any mass meeting, or anything else over the lighting proposition last night. No contract could possibly have been let last night, or even have been considered. There was no action that the council could take except to pass an ordinance authorizing the city, while the ordinance was in force, to either furnish its own lights or award a private contract for them. Even if this ordinance had been passed it would have amounted to nothing, as it would have had to be passed once again by the council and twice by the board of aldermen, then go to the mayor, who, after keeping it the maximum number of days would doubtless have vetoed it, as he vetoed the sanitary sewerage and other such ordinances when republican boards were in office several years ago.

After the mayor had vetoed the ordinance, it would have to be passed again over his veto, and after this formality, which would require at least several weeks to complete, the proposition from the light company sired to be heard on it, it would be time enough to ask to be heard. There was no occasion for a hearing last night, and a great many of those probably knew it.

One of "the gang" said yesterday when told that the light question would not come up last night, "We're going up and raise h- anyhow.' That expressed the situation in a nutshell. Some of those opposed to the light proposition are in good faith. Others are not. They have not given the question any serious thought, and do not understand it. Some have a grudge against somebody or something, and that's why many oppose the light contract. Others are not tax payers. Others are taxpayers but would much rather pay twice the amount of taxes and see the present poards "in hot water," and help "raise h- with 'em,' quoted from an expression above. than to have an economical, businesslike city administration under republican boards. These men belong to the gang, and they are largely the ones who have agitated the light question and misled a large number of people about it.

Another thing, a few hundred people, or a petition containing a few hundred names, do not represent the people of Paducah. There are 20,-000 or more people here, and 4,000 or more voters. A legislative board must think of those not present and not on a petition, as well as those who are. The members of the boards must do what they think is best for the people in general.

We believe that the present boards will be found doing this every month

AN EMPTY DREAM. Last night Mayor Yeiser reported plan of burning coal in such a way as to furnish gas as power to run the city light plant, and by using gas instead of steam, reduce the cost of arc lights to the city to $17.50. The mayor did not say that this could be done, or that he believed it could be done, but evidently he desired his hearers to think it could be done. He did not once attempt to explain how preposterous such a scheme is. For instance, the actual cost of operating the light plant last year, as shown by the auditor's report, was $10, 368. The city used 165 lights. This made the actual cost of the lights $64 and a fraction. The cost to the city of coal for last year was $1681 The cost for coal of each of the 165 lights was consequently $10.20. If you take this $10.20 spent for coal for each light, from the average cost of the lights for the year, $64, it leaves the cost $54, in round numbers, which represents what the lights would have cost if the city hadn't paid a cent for coaf. In other words, if the city had been able to operate its plant without a dollar's worth of fuel, it still would have saved but $10 a light, and would have made the average cost per light $54, for the "moonlight schedule." The light company proposed to furnish this same light for $52. Yet the mayor apparently wishes people to believe that by saving part of the coal the city can get the cost of

REDUCTION IN THE TAX RATE. The council has taken the first step towards reducing the tax rate in Paducah. The ordinance passed last night fixes it at $1.60. This is a It means a big saving for the taxpayers. It was hoped to make the tax rate even lower, probably $1.50,but this will be impossible, for there are a number of things that should have been done by the old boards last year or the year before that were not, and they have to be done now to give the people the service and benefits they are entitled to.

The remains of the former administration, as everyone knows, has tried every way in its power to pile make the cost of running the city as heavy as possible, and yet the tax rate will be about $1.60 this year, if indications count, where it was

The taxpayers, while they may be somewhat disappointed because the rate is not $1.50, what it was hoped it would be, will doubtless be more than glad to learn of a $1.60 tax night relative to the pipe dream of some company that proposed to substitute gas for power to run the light make lights for $17.50 each, were obviously astonished. The mayor made his announcement with due solemnity, just as if he did not know how ridiculous it was. If the city of Paducah or any other city, saved every dollar paid for its power to run its light plant, it still would not cut down the cost of lights over $10 or $12 each a year. Taking the estimated cost of lights to a city as given by municipal ownership advocates. which is largely visionary, there is no possible way that are lights could be furnished at this price, if the its dynamos.

The Sun has known that this road was to be built, however, for a year or more. It will have no effect on the business of Paducah, and is an absolute necessity to the railroad in meeting the competition which becomes greater every year necessitating shorter lines and better time for all depart- force by April 1st. If their judgment isn't good they ought not have been put there. If their judgment and do not suit the people, they willing, it is understood, to stand on the records they make. But they don't propose to allow the gang to dictate to them.

The libel bill was defeated in the egislature by one vote, but it was would not have brought the cost of only temporary. It is not understood what rational opposition there can be to the bill, as it gives every one protection, and only makes a fairer law for the newspapers. Every kind of business and industry is adequately protected by law for its misfortunes and mistakes except the newspaper. It is to be hoped that the new libel law, when reconsidered, will be passed.

LANG BROS.' UNUSUAL OFFER.

"It isn't often that we have faith enough in the medicine put up by other people to be willing to offer to refund the money if it does not cure," said Lang Bros. to a Sun man who dropped into their store "but we are glad to sell Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepia on that basis.

"The Dr. Howard company, in order to get a quick introductory sale, authorizes us to sell their regular fifty cent bottles at half-price, 25 cents, and, although we have sold a lot of it, and have guaranteed every package, not one has been brought back as unsatisfactory.

One great advantage of this specific," he continued, "is its small dose and convenient form. There are sixty doses in a vial that can be carried in the vest pocket or purse, and every one has more medicinai power than a big pill or tablet or a tumbler of mineral water."

something no woman should take and yet "Favorite Prescription" is the only tonic and nervine put up for sale through druggists, especially for woman's weaknesses, that does not contain alcohol and that too in large quantities. "Favorite Prescription' is indeed an ideal medicine for women, and by far the best I have known to restore lost alcohol and that too in large quantities. Womanly weakness will always bring nervous irritability and a nervous condition, for which alcohol is the worst thing in the world. What a woman thus afflicted needs is a vegetable tonic and invigorating nervine like Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which will build up her delicate system and bring about a healthy tone. It cures the drains and weaknesses of women, also displacements as prolapsus, antealso displacements, as prolapsus, ante-version, retroversion, irregular and painful periods and kindred ailments.

Many mothers of families in the United States have reason to be grateful to the person who recommended Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This is a medicine specially prescribed for diseases of womankind. It does not cure eczema, catarrh in all its forms, nor heart disease, for it is put up for the single purpose of curing diseases peculiar to townen. It has a reputation of over a third of a century of cures, and has sold more largely on this continent than any other medicine for women. Another point in its favor—it does not contain a single drop of alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless in any condition of the system. HAMLIN GARLAND

"It's pure anarchy now," said Ray-"It was till I entered the game. I am in control of the situation tonight. If I could command $10,000 to take care of my men I'd bring order out of chaos or hang about forty of these hoboes."

"If you'll make this camp law abiding, Jack, you will be one of the great men of the state. Even the valley will praise you. It's up to you this minute to show your power."

"Yes, but there are a whole lot of other considerations. I can't afford to play into the hands of those cursed, one lung dudes. If it were a question of men like you and Kelly here-but it isn't. The Red Star company is made up of a set of pirates, who batten on labor like a lot of turkey buzzards. They have no regard for any human rights"-

"These howling dervishes up the street are not concerned with rights, not even their own."

Munro was in deadly earnest now. 'That's where you are wrong, old man. In their blind, fool way they are fighting labor's battles."

"It's a queer mixup," said Kelly, with a sigh. "I have a hatred of them dudes meself. They want to run our end of the county and their own too, They despise a workin'man. They dodge 'im as if he were a polecat."

Raymond rapped on the table. "Now wait a moment. You're confusing the jury. The immediate question is, 'How can we keep that mob of deputies from coming up here? I'll tell you what I will do. I will volunteer to go down and meet the leaders and try to stop their advance."

Kelly rose with a spring. "Go, you! I believe you can do the trick. Barnett is your friend. The sheriff is mine. I would go with you, but I dare not leave me home."

"Never mind me, Matt," said the small wife. "You're both taking a big risk," remarked Munro. "They may arrest you "I have no fear," Kelly said, "but I dare not go-just now." "I will go if the executive committee will authorize me to treat with the opposition," declared Raymond. They will never do that, but Carter You might take him. He's scared nearly out of his skin, but be might be willing to go. Come with me and we will see.' In the headquarters of the organ-ization Raymond and Munro found Carter and his staff loudly discussing measures and answering and sending messages. Dolan, the friendly reporter, was there, and also the representative of the Bozle Nugget. They were both deeply trusted, and their advice was most carefully considered. Upon Curran. I'm told he's been to every seeing Raymond with Munro, Dolan rushed forward. "What's the mean- attempt to break your grip on that ing of this? Have the independents come in?"

Munro said quietly: "Boys, I want to be alone with the president. Clear the room, Sergeant Poole."

A tall young fellow in cowboy's dress drew a big revolver and, using it as a sort of baton, impassively drove every one but the president, his secretary and Raymond from the room.

Munro put Raymond's proposition before Carter in a few words. Carter turned white with fear.

"I can't do it. They'd kill me. They hold me responsible for everything that's been done here. The governor has wired me to meet him, but I dare not do it. It's suicide to do it."

"Then I will go alone," said Raymond, in vast disgust. "Give me a letter saying you would like to meet and confer with the sheriff to prevent bloodshed, and I will present it." Carter was shaking with excitement over the responsibility thrust upon him. "I don't know what to say." "I'll tell you what to say," put in Munro. "Tell him we are fully organized and heavily armed, but that we desire to avoid bloodshed and to that end invite him and the president of the Red Star company to meet with us and Raymond in the presence of the governor of the state, in the hope of price by Lark Medicine Co., Louisarriving at a compromise."

Raymond was pleased. "That's the first note of sense I have heard uttered in this whole row.'

When the letter was delivered to him Munro said: "Now, Carter, keep mum about this. If it works out, you can have all the credit for it; if it fails, I'll take the kicking."

The crowd in the outer room were consumed with curlosity as the two young men came out, but Munro said: Get the recruits all together. I'll be back in half an hour and put them through the paces."

Mounting their horses, they set off down the trail in the thick falling snow, guided only by the dim lights in the valley.

"It's a tough night to be out, Rob, but you're less likely to be interfered with on that account. If you meet any of my pickets the countersign is 'contact-porphyry-and slate."

CHAPTER XXI.

AYMOND'S descent of the canyou was singularly uneventful. He met neither the invading army nor the patrol. Happily the storm lessened as he descended, and by dawn he was once more trotting with the calm, close adhering seat house in the lower town, but with the coming of light and the blooming of the rose of the morning he resolved to ride directly to Barnett's. "My errand is an honorable one," he argued. "Why should I speak into cover?" The housemaid who let him into the house smiled upon him in a most friendly fashion. "We're glad to see my presence." Barnett was in bed, with a pot of coffee and some toast on a stand by his side, reading the morning papers.

"I understand, and I don't blame ou. She came back from up there looking like a rose of Sharon. Of course you haven't had breakfast. Have some coffee. Touch that bell for me and we'll have something heartier,' "How is Mrs. Barnett?"

"Never better. T'ye got her locked in there." He pointed at an inner door. "I had an idea you were coming with important news from the front. I don't know about your being here; the peo ple have got you mixed up with Munro in this thing, and I've had the devil's own job to convince them otherwise. I'm not a bit sure they won't want to arrest you and hold you as a hostage."

"That would be a nice job." "Wouldn't it? But they've lost their heads completely. You see, these 'red neckers' hit us on a weak spot-they broke loose just as we were trying to noat our biggest issue of stock and flattened out every deal till it looks like a square yard of nothing. In the end he had his way, and so in warm, dry footwear and a smoking tacket the young miner ate his steak and drank his coffee while his host looked on and commented on his looks.

GForty million bottles of August Flower sold in the United States afone since its introduction! And the demand for it is friendly fashion. "We're glad to see you, sir. Shall I tell Mr. Barnett you are here?"

"I wish you would, and tell him I wish no one but himself to know of my presence."

Introduction? And the demand for it is still growing. Isn't that a fine showing of success? Don't it prove that August Flower has had unfailing success in the cure of indigestion and dyspepsia—the worst enemies of health and happiness?

When he had quite finished, Barnett sald, "Well, now, Rob, what about it?" Raymond was equally direct. "I'm here to try to persuade you not to send the sheriff and his men up the canvon." "Whom do you represent, the union?" "In a way, yes. I have a letter to you, and I come on behalf of the independents, who don't want to see bloodshed. There'll be a horrible mixup, Don, sure thing, unless your fellows are headed off. Munro's cowboys and desperadoes will fight; don't make any mistake about that."

"Who is this man Munro?"

Raymond looked at his friend steadily. "Don, the time has come to tell you something, but it's a secret!" His voice ended in a rising inflection. "It concerns only you and me-for the present ' right, old man." "Munro is really Jackson Hollenbeck. We were classmates and roommates at West Point. Do you remember reading some eight or nine years ago of a group of six cadets being dismissed for hazing and insubordination? I don't suppose you do, but I was one of that gang. Jack was another. We weren't so bad as we were represented, but they fired us all the same. I lost all track of Hoilie, as we called him then." "So that's where Munro gets his military training, and his real name is Hollenbeck." He smiled slyly. "What's

"Oh, mine is straight. I never tried to conceal my identity. I'm Robert The sessions will begin tomorrow and Huston Raymond of Ohlo, the man that 'swatted' his superior and got 'busted' for it. Since then I've lived a commonplace life."

"What was it all about? I never asked any questions before, but I'd like to know all about it."

tant is this - Jack Munro's military training is being felt. Now, you mustn't ask me a single question as to conditions up there. I'm going back, I was faithful to my trust. If the believe I can get Jack to deliver the men that blew up the mine. Then if the Red Star people-you, in fact-will deal with the men fairly I think the whole situation will clear.'

"I don't share your optimism. Those jackasses must be whipped before they will yield a point. They'd kill you and the sheriff both."

"I don't think so. I know Jack will protect us. He practically controls the Fourth and Jefferson streets, has recamp at this minute. I have the countersion and can pass the patrol at any time today, and the sheriff, if he has paralysis and is in a very dangerthe nerve, can ride with me straight to Jack's headquarters. Then I want you to meet some of the head men and arrange a new scale."

To this Barnett would not listen. "Once you admit that these men can try for half a century past. He is the dictate terms and where will their demands stop?" Raymond spoke with some heat What I complain of is that you Red Star people are interfering with my business. You have inflamed the camp sonable in treating with your men. It Memphis, Tenn. isn't so much a question of wages; it's question of courtesy and decent regard for your fellows. Mackay was no man to make an issue of. He was, in fact, a conceited ass, and you know it. Now, Barnett, you must 'back water' here. The camp is in a bad temper, and you can't cure violence with violence.

PRESIDENT M'BROOM SAYS ALL MAY BE HEARD.

President Geo. O. McBroom, of the lower board of the council, said today that he believed he voiced the sentiment of every member of the council when he declared that when the light proposition came before that board, in due form, for action, that any man, woman, or child, in the city of Paducah would be given the privilege and time to express his or her views on the matter, and that if all could not be heard, he would be willing to sit in extra sessions, free of any salary, until every one who wished to do so, had expressed

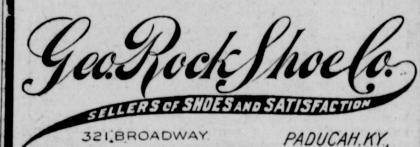

He said this in reply to an inquiry of what he thought of the attempted reflection made on the board in some quarters to try to make the people believe that the council, in its action of last night, was denying anyone the right of expressing himself on the light question.

The mere lapse of years is not life; knowledge, truth, love, beauty, goodness, faith, alone can give vitality to the mechanism of existence.
